The Puget Sound Retriever Club is a group of Retriever enthusiasts who are dedicated to the conservation of game through the use of trained retrievers. We are united by our commitment to retriever sporting events like Field Trials and Hunt Tests. It is our universal goal to urge and assist Club members to train their retrievers to proficiently retrieve fallen game.

Great People!

People who love dogs are generally pretty nice folks. When you combine that with a love for conservation and the role that retrievers play in their lives, it makes a fantastic combination. The volunteers and members of the Puget Sound Retriever Club are a really special bunch of people. When they get together, fun is the usual outcome! We hope you join us at one or more of our planned events or even just to train. We love helping the novice and throwing birds for the experienced handlers too!

Great Dogs!

Who in the world could not love the affection, perseverance, enthusiasm and energy of the retrieving breeds? Whether it be a lab, chessie, golden, toller, poodle or one of the water spaniels, these dogs are cool. While the antics and personalities of these pooches is always original, their focus and love for their craft is an inspiration to those of us who understand and live with them. To say we are devoted to these gifts from God is an understatement.

Great Training Grounds!

The PSRC is one of the few clubs that maintains properties leased exclusively as training grounds. We are able to lease these grounds based on long standing relationships with people who value the conservation aspects to which we are committed to. Further, we are good stewards of their property and their trust. We are self policing and insist that members treat the grounds as their own and be involved in the improvements and investments we make in this wonderful privilege.
